8 THINGS you'd never think of doing on a cruise

There are many things that exist on cruise lines today, that were never an option 10 years ago. Nowadays, activities such as zip-lining, sky-diving and 'chilling' in an ice bar are some of the highlights of going on a cruise.

SKY-DIVING

Aboard Royal Caribbean's Quantum of the Seas, this dream can now become a reality. Without having to board a plane and fly 10,000 plus feet high, you can experience the thrill of a lifetime on this sky-diving simulation.

OBSERVATION CAPSULE

Access to a 135-foot observation capsule. Be lifted from the top deck of Royal Caribbean's Quantum of the Seas and get a bird's eye view of your journey at sea. It's approximately 30 stories high and can hold up to 14 guests at a time.

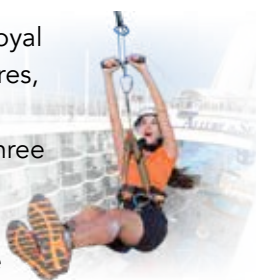

IMAX THEATRES

Be amazed by the Imax experience aboard your next cruise! Cruise lines such as Carnival now give you the opportunity to see some of the latest movies, Imax style while being miles out to sea!

ZIP-LINING

Another one of Royal Caribbean's features, zip-lining can be experienced on three of their ships – Harmony of the Seas, Oasis of the Seas and Allure of the Seas.

THE LAWN

With a half-acre of real grass on Celebrity's Solstice, you can experience a freshly manicured lawn on the highest deck. Have a picnic with friends or sip on your favourite cocktail while watching the sunset.

ICE BAR

Aboard Norwegian Epic, Breakaway & Getaway ships, the SVEDKA & Inniskillin Ice Bars can be found. There's no longer a need to head to the Arctic to experience a bar made entirely out of ice!

FIREWORKS

With Disney Cruises, dreams really do come true! On these ships, guests have the opportunity to see a fireworks show, displayed off the side of the ship. This is one of the few cruise lines allowed to do this at sea.

SIMULATED SURF SESSIONS

Royal Caribbean's Freedom of the Seas, offers another cool feature called Flow Rider, where surf fanatics can catch a few waves without having to step foot off the ship!

Why take a RIVER CRUISE?

River cruises are quickly becoming a popular way to vacation, putting you on major waterways in scenic locations and giving you the opportunity to witness some once-in-a-lifetime sights. Though these river tours have been around for decades, ships around the world are travelling to new and exciting locations, with a number of popular destinations in Europe, Asia, and North America. For someone who often travels on an ocean liner, a river cruise is highly recommended by the Going Places Travel team!

THE EXPERIENCE

One of the main contrasts between river and ocean cruises is that the main attraction of river cruises is the land, not the ship. Travellers spend time each day in port, touring the city or town, sometimes visiting multiple locations in one day. A majority of river cruises include a standard tour in each port, allowing visitors to learn about the history and culture of the area. Though most of the sailing occurs at night, travellers will occasionally get the chance to take in scenic riverside views, like those of the Rhine Gorge.

ITINERARIES AND EXCURSIONS

These unique travel excursions take you to some of the most unique, exclusive destinations in the world. River cruises on the Danube and Rhine Rivers are among the industry's most popular, but with their popularity growing--over 2 dozen new river liners were christened in 2014 alone--there are a myriad of locations opening up every day. Now is the best time to seize the opportunity and discover a new area or to check a trip off your bucket list. Cruises on rivers around the globe bring you up close and personal with the culture of that region, with local faire and performances making their appearances throughout your trip. When you take a river cruise on the Mississippi River in the United States, you'll be treated to some of the best live music from Memphis and New Orleans; throughout a cruise on the Rhine, you'll be offered a fine selection of knackwurst and local beers. Always exciting and immersive, river cruises are among the best ways to truly learn about culture. Learn for yourself why river cruises are increasing in popularity, and book a trip along some of the most beautiful waterways in the world. You're sure to fall in love with whatever region you choose.

Insider's Tip:

Consider scheduling your cruise during off-peak or shoulder seasons. Europe during the Summer can be particularly overcrowded and more expensive than Spring and Fall.

5 REASONS TO WORK WITH A TRAVEL ADVISOR

1 A great Travel Advisor... Takes It from Ordinary to Extraordinary

A Going Places Travel Advisor can secure special benefits that you can't get on your own, such as complimentary breakfast, spa credits, and upgrades at hotels. But they also see the nuances in every trip. From big-picture aspects (where to go – and when) to the details that matter (booking the hotel rooms with the best views, where to get the most authentic pizza on the Amalfi Coast), your travel advisor knows how to plan a memorable trip.

2 Knows The World

Just as you might use a financial planner, an interior designer, or personal shopper, it makes sense to entrust your most valuable asset – your time – to an experienced travel advisor. The best advisors spend a lot of time on the road themselves – scouting out hotels, deepening relationships with tour guides, and finding the best restaurants and things to do.

3 Knows Your Travel Style

A Going Places Travel Advisor understands what's most important to you and your travelling companions. You may want to take a cooking class or a private tour, or you may not want to leave the resort pool! Perhaps you want to use travel to educate your kids, plan an unforgettable anniversary trip, or celebrate a milestone birthday with friends and family. Your travel advisor will have plenty of suggestions on what might work best for you.

4 Expands Your Horizons

A great travel advisor will help you think creatively about where to go and what to do. Italy, France, & Hawaii will always be popular.

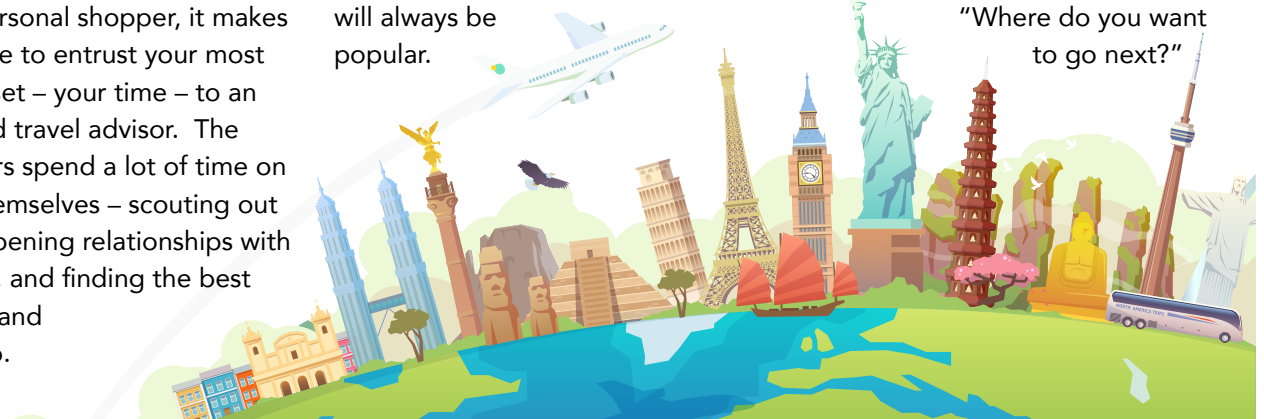

But your advisor also knows the best ways, say, to see Chile, Portugal, New Zealand, and many other hot destinations – plus new ways to experience the places you've already visited. Together, you can plan your next dream trip or weekend getaway.

5 Can Handle Anything

Have you ever been on a trip where everything went exactly as planned? Right - this almost never happens. Issues are bound to pop up, and your Going Places Travel Advisor is your personal help line and "fixer" who knows how to quickly turn things around for the better. When they follow up after your trip, you'll surely have an answer to this question:

"Where do you want to go next?"

London: the best things to see and do in 24 hours.

Changing flights in London?

Few destinations are better for a stopover.

With easy transport links you can make the most of the capital in no time.

Check out our guide to the best things to do in London in 24 hours.*

Early Morning

Head to Hampstead Heath and watch the city come to life from Parliament Hill. It's the best spot for watching the sunrise.

Not quite wide awake? Start your day with a walk across Hyde Park. Catch the tube to Hyde Park corner and take a diagonal route via the Serpentine lake to Bayswater Road and Kensington Gardens. Take a 15 minute stroll to Notting Hill where you can reward yourself with a well-deserved breakfast.

If you want more landmarks, take a train to Waterloo and walk along the south bank of the River Thames. This is a great chance to view some of London's best known architectural icons. Start at Westminster Bridge where you can snap some classic shots of the Houses of Parliament and Big Ben. Head east past the London Eye, the Tate Modern and Shakespeare's Globe theatre.

Morning

London's major museums house some of the finest historical, cultural and artistic collections in the world, they are all free to enter. Head to South Kensington for three of the best: the Science Museum, the Natural History Museum and the Victoria and Albert Museum, all located within minutes of each other.

Alternatively, learn more about the United Kingdom's most famous family with a visit to one of these royal attractions. The Tower of London houses the Crown Jewels, Kensington Palace is the home of Diana Princess of Wales, Princess Margaret and Queen Victoria and the Queen's official residence Buckingham Palace opens its staterooms between August and September each year. The Changing of the guards takes place from 11:30 and finishes around midday.

Afternoon

Opt for a quick lunch then sit back and relax on a sightseeing tour. The Original London Sightseeing Tour takes place on an open top double decker bus. The hop on, hop off ticket includes a free Thames River cruise.

Evening

Get up high and watch the city turn from day to night. There are plenty of affordable ways to see London from above including the 311 steps to the top of The Monument a Doric column built to commemorate the Great Fire of London.

The London Eye - a giant 135 metre Ferris wheel, affords amazing river and skyline views.

Relative newcomer The Shard building has the highest observation deck at a height of 244 metres.

Round off the evening with a trip to a traditional London pub. Many are located in centuries old buildings and every neighbourhood has its favourites like the notorious White Hart on Drury Lane. If you fancy heading out to the Docklands to see a show at the O2, drop in to the NY-LON a new bar that celebrates Virgin Atlantic's partnership with Delta Air Lines.

Still awake? Check out Karaoke Box in Soho or a late night show at Leicester Squares Odeon theatre. Finish off the night in one of the capitals all night dining establishments like the Heron Tower in Bishopsgate for a final splurge on Champagne cocktails and smoked salmon at the Duck and Waffle.

DOMINICA

When you're visiting a place known as "The Nature Island," you can bet you'll be in for a vacation that's rooted in natural beauty. Travel to Dominica and you'll see just what we're talking about!

The island nation of Dominica (pronounced Dom-ih-NEE-ka) -- not to be confused with the Dominican Republic -- is located in the Lesser Antilles region of the Caribbean, north of the country of Venezuela and between the islands of Guadeloupe and Martinique. With its high, hilly rain forests, it's the perfect place for plants, birds, and animals to thrive. Dominica remains largely untamed and immensely appealing for travellers seeking a different Caribbean adventure. All across this abundant island, rivers rush through dense rainforests, mountains reflect in quiet lakes, and the songs of rare birds mingle with the roar of waterfalls. Great hiking, excellent scuba diving, deep-sea fishing, whale watching and exploring experiences exist in Dominica.

THE HOTEL CHAMPS

This family-style hotel perched on a hill-side, proudly displays its greatest allure: a 270 degree panoramic sea-view displaying awesome rainbows in the morning and knockout sunsets in the evening. Winning numerous awards over the years from Best Bargain Hotel, to Travelers Choice and Awards of Excellence, Hotel The Champs has never failed to amaze its guests. It offers the most terrific views and provides guests with 5-star service, every time. The Champs Cocktail & Wine Bar is also a great place to cool down and enjoy an exotic cocktail in the evening, after a long day of activities on the beautiful island of Dominica.
